My vision is to develop an increased understanding of concepts in the fields of Cloud Computing, Big Data Analytics and Enterprise Software and implement the knowledge gained in a successful way that would impact daily life of common man.

Areas of interest:

My interest lies in both technical as well as managerial side of software industry. I enjoy developing web applications and currently I am working on a Big Data Analytics project. I also want to be on the software management side by being involved with analyzing the business proposal and making business decisions.
